Following is a copy of the certificate of election:

To all to whom these presents come greeting: Know ye that at an election duly opened and held at the several legal voting places in Knox county, Tennessee, on the 5th day of August, 1880,

Gossett was duly and legally elected sheriff of said county for said term, he having received a majority of all the votes legally cast at said election for said office, as duly appears from a comparison of the polls by me this day made in the court house in Knoxville, in pursuance of law.

As witness, my official signature at the court house in Knoxville, on this the first Monday after said election, being the 9th day of August, 1880.

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.

Open to the Public.—Organization by Young Men To-night.

We have heretofore alluded to the new republican campaign headquarters, which have been established in the corner room in the Opera House building, corner of Gay and Cumberland streets. The arrangements are now complete, and the room is thoroughly fitted up and open to visitors at all hours during the day. The room is large and commodious, and is well adapted to the use of a campaign club room. It has been provided with a stage for the president's seat, and speakers' desk, tables for secretaries, reporters, etc., and with new chairs, furnishing seating room for about 300 persons.

The walls are hung with pictures and portraits of the following gentlemen: Gen. U. S. Grant, Gen. J. A. Garfield, Gen. Chester A. Arthur, Hon. Jas. G. Blaine, Hon. J. M. Thornburgh, Gen. Jos. A. Cooper, ex-President Abraham Lincoln, ex-Governor William G. Brownlow, Judge L. C. Houk, President R. B. Hayes, Vice President Wm. A. Wheeler, and John G. Whittier, the poet. Other pictures will be added. The room has been partially decorated about with red, white and blue bunting, and other decorations in this line will also be added.

A document room is also fitted up near of the speakers' stand, in which a plentiful supply of campaign documents of innumerable variety may always be found. There are now on hands about 10,000 documents and 15,000 more are on the way, all sent by Judge Houk. Besides an exchange table is kept furnished with the leading republican daily papers, and will be through the campaign. All this combined gives Knox county republicans a model campaign club room, not to be excelled. The credit for all this admirable arrangement is due to Messrs. J. C. Houk and H. T. Cooper, two of our most active and enthusiastic young republicans, who have worked with indomitable zeal in this matter. The room will be kept open, with some one in charge constantly, and all are cordially invited to drop in at their convenience and make themselves at home. Visitors from a distance are specially invited. The invitation is not confined to republicans, either, but we ask our democratic friends to stop in and take a look through when they desire.

To-night there will be organized in this room by the young republicans of Knox county a central Garfield and Arthur club. Everybody is invited. There will be addresses by eminent speakers, music by two cornet bands, a presentation of an elegant banner, and many other interesting events.

To Travelers by Sea and Land.

The effect of change of air and of travel is to produce constipation, which is followed by headache, piles and a general disarrangement of the system. The stomach, already nauseated, gags at the very sight of a pill, while other mixtures sweetened or not sweetened, or acid, are revolting. Nothing of the kind is ever complained of in taking Simmons' Liver Regulator. It is always grateful to the stomach, whatever its condition may be—in fact, the slightly bitter taste of the Regulator is pleasant in removing the sick taste from the mouth. A dose of Simmons' Liver Regulator, say from a half to a full tablespoonful, will impart a grateful warmth and glow to the weak and nauseated stomach, will regulate the secretions and gently assist Nature, slowly and surely, without griping or nausea, as though no medicine had been taken.

Death of Col. A. C. Eaton.

A note from a friend at Eaton's X Roads brings intelligence of the death of Col. A. C. Eaton at the residence of his son, Dr. B. P. Eaton, on the morning of August 31st. He had been suffering with a lingering illness of over four weeks' duration, during which he manifested a great deal of Christian patience by never murmuring or complaining. He was a member of the Presbyterian church for more than thirty years. He was strictly temperate, and a consistent Christian gentleman. He was honest and upright in all his intercourse with his fellow-men, and was respected and esteemed by all. He lacked four days of being 78 years old at the time of his death. He leaves a large circle of friends and neighbors to mourn his loss. His remains were interred at the family burying ground at Pleasant hill.

The Late Morristown Tragedy.

The Gazette of this week publishes a synopsis of an eloquent and forcible sermon by Rev. D. W. Carter at the M. E. church, south, in Morristown, last Sunday, on the subject of the recent tragedy enacted in that town by Ben. Town Marshal Jas. T. Morris and Ben. F. Richardson lost their lives. The following is the closing paragraph:

And now, my friends, I have spoken to you plainly. I am in earnest. I have no apology to offer. I have sorrow for widowhood and orphanage. I have tears for hopes blighted and hearts broken and as I stand in the presence of my God, I appeal to you to remove the cause of these things. I declare to you that the remedy is in your own hands. In this land the people are sovereign. When the time comes for you to speak, speak. My brethren, for law; speak for peace and sobriety; speak for God, and speak for prohibition of the liquor traffic.

School Opening.

The fall session at the University of Tennessee opens for organization and work to-day. President Humes and his corps of assistants have been busy for days preparing for the event. A large number of students are already here, many of them new ones, and they continue to arrive on every train, especially from the west. From all the indications we feel warranted in saying that the outlook for this college year is very fine, and the session will certainly open with the largest attendance ever known before.

Prof. Robertson, superintendent of the city schools, together with assistants, were kept quite busy yesterday preparing for the opening of these schools next week. Already the names of 76 new pupils have been added to the school roll and tickets issued them, and they are still coming in. The outlook is favorable for another flourishing and successful year.

The school board have supplied the vacancy created by the death of Prof. S. A. Craig, by promoting Mr. W. T. White, teacher at the Bell House, to the position of principal of the Peabody school. Mr. White's place is not yet supplied, but that will be arranged when the organization is effected. The pupils will all meet in their respective rooms to-morrow for organization, and the schools will open regular Monday.

The above cut represents a New Invention patented by Jas. C. Chambers, Newport, Ky., in 1877 and 1880, for protecting buildings from lightning. This method does not attract a stroke of lightning to the building, but being electrically insulated by a patented large glass insulator, both from the building and the earth, repels or prevents the stroke. It has stood the test without a single accident for the past three years. It is so constructed that it can be put up plain and very cheap or it can be put up as a cresting, making a nice ornament to any building as well as protection.
